

Privacy Policy

GRACO Financial is committed to providing access to services and information online in a manner that respects and protects your privacy. This statement describes our information collection practices and explains how we use and protect your personal information. We subscribe to important privacy protections found in the American Library Association's Code of Ethics.

This statement applies only to information collected by this web site.

We collect the following types of information about you:

- Personally identifiable information that you provide voluntarily. This includes information such as contact information that allows us to respond to your requests and information you provide in online web forms (e.g., application forms, registration forms, survey forms, etc.) This information is used to respond to your requests, communicate with you, and provide you with better service.

We do not collect or use the following types of information:

- Auto-collected information (web logs). Our web server does not recognize or store the Internet domain and IP address from which you accessed our web site, the date and time of your visit, the pages you specifically visited on our site, or any information automatically forwarded by your browser.
- Cookie-based technology. Cookies are small text files that many web sites transfer to users' hard drives to enable the site to deliver personalized services or to provide persistent authentication. We do not transfer any information directly to your hard drive unless you specifically request that the information be downloaded.

We will not share your information with third parties except:

- as required by law,
- with service providers acting on our behalf who have agreed in writing to protect the confidentiality of the data, or
- in instances that you permit OR in accordance with your consent.

This site may contain links to other web sites not affiliated with our office. We are not responsible for the privacy practices of these other sites. We encourage you to read the privacy statements of other sites for assurance that their practices safeguard your privacy.

We reserve the right to modify this privacy statement at any time and will post the changes on this web site. We welcome suggestions and questions about our privacy statement.
